Renewable Energy Riders Decrease

The monthly charges on power bills that recoup renewable energy costs have decreased for 2021–2022.

The monthly NC Renewable Mandate rider for the residential rate class has decreased to 19 cents. The monthly rider for the commercial rate class has decreased to $1.03. The monthly rider for the industrial rate class has decreased to $6.88. All of these changes are now in effect.

Each month there is a charge on members' power bills, called the N.C. Renewable Mandate. This charge is a result of the Renewable Energy Portfolio Standard, which was passed into state law in 2007. The law mandates that power providers must purchase a percentage of renewable energy each year. Because renewable energy is more expensive, utilities can recover those extra costs, using an additional charge, called a rider, on members' bills.

"The NC Renewable Mandate enables co-ops to recover the additional costs of purchasing renewable energy," said Gary Ray, general manager of Albemarle EMC. "A percentage of Albemarle EMC's power, by law, must come from renewable sources such as wind and solar,"

AEMC Adds Charging Station

Albemarle EMC was recently part of a joint effort to install an electric vehicle charging station at the McDonald's restaurant, located in the Tanglewood Shopping Center, in Elizabeth City.

Albemarle EMC was able to reach an agreement with Tandem Inc., which owns the restaurant, to install the charging station in their store's parking lot. The charging station was paid for through a $74,534 grant from the N.C. Department of Environmental Quality.

The charging station features multiple different connectors to ensure any car can be charged. According to Chargepoint, maker of the charging station, the average time to charge a sedan is less than 30 minutes. The station also has an interactive LCD screen that enables drivers to view instructions and charging information.

The addition of the charging station is part of a larger initiative to add electric cooperative-owned charging stations across the state. Currently there are more than 30 charging stations.

"This is a win-win for all of the parties involved," said Albemarle EMC General Manager Gary Ray. "Albemarle EMC is delighted to improve our environment and better serve our communities."

Bright Ideas Applications Now Being Accepted

Local educators can now apply for a Bright Ideas grant from Albemarle EMC.

The grants, offered annually to teachers, bring creative classroom learning projects to life, support innovative projects that energize classroom learning and enhance student success. Educators can learn more and apply online at www.ncbrightideas.com.

Albemarle EMC expects to award more than $13,000 total in Bright Ideas grants this year to K-12 teachers across its service area in Chowan, Perquimans, Pasquotank, Camden and Currituck counties. Grants of up to $1,500 max are available in all subject areas, and teachers can apply individually or as a team.

Applications will be accepted through Sept. 15, 2021.

Teachers who submit their application by the early bird deadline of Aug. 15 will be entered to win one of five $100 Visa gift cards.

To apply, teachers must include a budget; explanation of implementation, goals, creative elements and evaluation of the project. Applicants should also have approval from their school's principal. Applications will be judged through a competitive evaluation process, with judges looking for projects that feature inventive and creative approaches to learning. Grant-writing tips can be found at www.ncbrightideas.com.

For more than 25 years, Albemarle EMC has joined North Carolina's 26 electric cooperatives in offering Bright Ideas grants to teachers. Since the program began in 1994, educators statewide have received more than $13.6 million in Bright Ideas grant funding, and more than 2.7 million North Carolina students have participated in close to 13,000 Bright Ideas-funded projects.

Grants Awarded

Two community minded organizations were recently awarded Albemarle Community Trust grants.

The Chowan-Perquimans Smart Start Partnership was awarded a $2,500 grant to purchase about 900 children's books. Households will be given a book during well-child visits.

"The book is used as an additional screening tool by the medical professional providing insight into age-appropriate guidance," said Executive Director Susan Nixon.

The Girls Scout Council of the Colonial Coast received $3,000 to help fund their Girl Scout Leadership program in Camden, Perquimans and Chowan counties.

"The grant will provide girls in underserved communities with resources to access enrichment opportunities both virtually and through our community outreach," said Cassidy Wright, grants manager for Girls Scout Council of the Colonial Coast.

We are now well into the hotter months, and power consumption is climbing. To try to keep your cooperative's wholesale power costs from increasing, we need your help. We recently launched our Beat the Peak program, which involves members voluntarily reducing their energy usage when alerted by text messages that a peak time period of high energy use is expected. Peak-use times occur when a majority of our members use power simultaneously, spiking demand. These peak-use times are usually between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. in the summer. Because additional generation has to be brought online to meet the spike in demand, Albemarle EMC must pay more for the wholesale power we provide to you during these peak times. As a not-for-profit cooperative, wholesale power cost increases must be paid for by the members.

When alerted that a peak-use time is expected, we encourage you to lower energy use during the short time period using such methods as reducing the use of hot water, delaying cooking with a stove, delaying doing laundry and trying to raise your thermostat 3 degrees.

Electricity rates pay for the wholesale power we supply to our members as well as all of the costs required to keep that power available to you. We are delighted that we have been able to operate without the need for a rate increase since 2012. As a member of Albemarle EMC, you are also an owner of the cooperative. By participating voluntarily in this program, you can play a direct role in keeping rates affordable. Help us Beat the Peak!

Gary Ray
Executive Vice President and General Manager

Closed for Independence Day

Beat the Peak this Summer

by Chris Powell, coordinator of public relations

By operating your home or business as efficiently as possible, you can lower your power bill and help Albemarle EMC beat peak wholesale power costs. The following are list of energy efficiency tips for the hotter months.

Air Conditioners

Maintaining a comfortable temperature in your home when it is blazing hot outside can get expensive. Heating and air systems are typically the largest users of power in a home. Here are some tasks that you can hire a professional to perform to help keep cooling costs down:

- Inspect ductwork for loose joints and other leaks. Air leaks should be sealed with duct mastic, not duct tape.
- Check hose connections for leaks and make sure the condensation tube is draining freely.
- Clean the blower so that it can move air more efficiently.
- Oil the motors and check the belts for tightness and wear.
- Verify the airflow by measurement. Improper airflow can affect efficiency.
- Clean the indoor evaporator and outdoor condenser coil. If it doesn't have an access panel, have one installed.
- Check the refrigerant charge and adjust if needed.
- Straighten any bent fins on the condenser and evaporator coils.
- Inspect the thermostat to make sure it is providing a reliable reading.
- Install a programmable thermostat to adjust your home's temperature automatically. This thermostat increases the temperature setting while you're gone and then returns the home to a more comfortable setting before you return.
- Have ceiling fans installed. They can provide sufficient comfort when used in place of your central cooling system.

Weatherization

Parents often admonish children who run in and out of the house, leaving doors open. But those parents may be doing the same thing without realizing it. Several small leaks in the envelope of the house can add up to a large opening all the time.

Most air leaks occur in the basement and attic. Starting in your basement, look for gaps and cracks where your cement or block foundation meets the frame of the house. Joists, located between the floor and foundation, create small empty spaces that are hard to insulate and may leak. Not all of the gaps are visible, so energy experts suggest sealing the tops and bottoms of rim joists, which sit atop the foundation. It's also a good idea to seal gaps between the basement ceiling and the floor above, such as holes for wiring and pipes.

In the attic, pay attention to dirty insulation. That is a big clue that air is moving through the area. Be sure to seal gaps between the attic ceiling and the rooms below, including holes for wiring, lighting and the attic door. While in the attic check to ensure that insulation is level with tops of ceiling joists. If not, add more.

Pools

If you have a swimming pool, you may already know that the cost of operating circulating and filtration pumps can be considerable. Pool pumps use electricity to move water. Energy can be wasted if the motor is oversized, if the piping is too small or if dirty filters restrict the flow of water.

Modern, high-efficiency motors can consume up to 20 percent less electricity than the standard motors used in most pools or spas. If you need to replace an existing motor, be sure to specify a high-efficiency motor. Motor and pump size are important, too, since it is cheaper to run a smaller motor for a longer period of time than to run a motor that is too large for short cycles. Be sure to size any replacement motors or pumps according to the smallest specification allowed by the pool or spa manufacturer. It is also a good idea to install a timer for your pool pump. If you can run the pool pump for 12 hours a day instead of 24, you will cut that cost by half.

Water Heaters

Water heaters are the second largest user of power in homes. If your water heater is located in your garage, you should place an insulating wrap around your water heater. Water heater wraps are sold at most home improvement stores. Also, when on summer vacation, you can turn your water heater off at your circuit breaker panel.

Beat the Peak

By following these suggestions you can lower your power usage throughout the day. During peak-energy use times, your efficiency will also help your cooperative reduce its wholesale power costs and delay the next rate increase.

Unclaimed Capital Credits

Below is the list of unclaimed capital credits checks that were returned by the postal service, marked "undeliverable as addressed." The list is also located at www.aemc.coop. If you see someone's name on either list, please have them call our office at (252) 426-5735. We'll need to update their mailing address so we can reissue their checks. If the person is deceased, the person that handled their estate needs to call so we can send them the appropriate form to apply for an estate refund.
